Logged Line shows ACTUAL daily investment value

Curves show projected likelihood of investment over time

Shows current day and daily interest rate/increase

Avatar moving along timeline, making comments on changes

Shows investment type's interest rate

Graph shows projected increase in investment over time

Clock for showing elapsed time and time left (may be redundant with timeline)

Flags showing Milestones (and a possible event) that lets you adjust your investment

Timeline with a tick mark for each day (depending on time length)

The avatar moves along the timeline, and the jagged line showing how the investment is growing animates as you go. Once the avatar hits a milestone (flag) they may have an event occur (ex. required to take some money out). They can then add/remove money, and adjust risk.

The game ends when the avatar reaches the last milestone (finish) and the amount earned is shown.

GAME SCREEN DESCRIPTION

The screen here is an example of one of the "scenarios" you can play through, guiding a character along their investment journey. In this scenario, the character Mia is taking her first steps into the investing world and wants to see how a basic investment behaves over a 4 week period. This scenario serves as a basic introduction into the mechanics of risk, compound interest, and managing the money you put into an investment account.

Let's check in on your investments!
